Creeps and Chat Rooms

You are a participant in a chat room on line. It is a chat room that you go to frequently so you are familiar with the people you "talk" with there. This night there is a new person in the chat room using a name you've never seen. They strike up a conversation with you and, after about 15 minutes ask you to go to one of the private chat rooms.

Discussion Questions:

How safe is it to chat with someone on line?

Is it all right to have conversations with someone new in a private chat room?